Cwmllynfell Coal Mining Historical Society

The purpose of the Society is to rekindle the history of Cwmllynfell Colliery – ‘The Clink Pit’ – and to create a memorial garden in tribute to all those miners who worked and died there.

The Society was formed by Phil Turner and the volunteers of ‘Y Goedlan’ and Woodland Road, Ystradowen, which overlook the site of the Clink – now a pleasant green meadow. The Society has been established for three years.

We are passionate about the Miners’ Memorial Garden, and determined to go that extra mile and create a space where members of the community can sit and remember their loved ones, knowing that their legacy will be remembered for years to come.

Please help us if you can!

The Cwmllynfell Coal Mining Historical Society relies entirely on donations to cover its running costs and to develop the memorial garden.

We need support in a number of areas:

- Donations

We are determined to make the memorial garden a worthy tribute to the miners who worked and died in the Clink but to do this we need to purchase plants, building materials and timber. You can donate on our website.

- Volunteers

We need help with building, planting and garden maintenance and administration. There is a form on our website where you can register to volunteer with us.

Please support us if you can - every little will help to make this garden a reality!
